

LessonMate

Online Journal for Lesson Notes and Missed Lessons

Welcome to LessonMate!

LessonMate is an online lesson journal that allows your teacher to document what's going on in lessons and what should be practiced for the week ahead.

Practice is a big part of the lesson process, but it's not without its challenges, especially when there's confusion about what to do or how to do it.

Using text, video, PDFs, MP3s and YouTube clips, LessonMate will help students understand the material and practice goals while promoting consistent progress. We all want that :)

The Missed Lesson

The most important thing when learning a musical instrument is regular weekly engagement. If a student has to miss a lesson, the teacher will post a detailed, personalized make-up lesson in their LessonMate account during their normally scheduled time. This will be done every time a student misses. This ensures students (and parents) remain informed and engaged, even when they miss.

Again, the goal here is consistent understanding and weekly progress.

What to expect from LessonMate

- You will receive an email with login information and an introductory video when your teacher posts your first LessonMate lesson.
- Every time a new LessonMate lesson is posted you will receive an email notification containing a link to your new lesson.

We ask you, the student and/or parent, to be diligent about checking in to LessonMate. It just takes a minute and we feel confident that this 'check in' will really aid this awesome process we all are engaged in- life long musicianship.

Please let us know if you've got any questions!

Cheers!
